

Our projects

I understand that each day that I wake up on this side of freedom, I have a gift that comes with a responsibility.

Our Projects are birthed from conversations with the women we serve. We listen so that we may learn what their aspirations and priorities are for their communities. In this section of the website, you will find descriptions of various projects we have completed and are working on for the betterment of women in Sudan.