

Our Projects

It's our privilege to work for Sudan's wonderful women and great girls...

CURRENT PROJECTS:

The Akon School for Girls In solidarity with women leaders in southern Sudan, My Sister's Keeper has supported the development of a girls' school in the village of Akon established by the women of the village in 2003. Learn more...

Darfur Advocacy

Hospital in Aweil, southern Sudan

Please consider supporting these projects today. Every day, every hour, every minute counts. Donate now.

===

PAST PROJECTS:

Grinding Mills In southern Sudan, most women spend an average of eight hours a day pounding their staple grain - sorghum - into an edible powder. At the request of formerly enslaved women, My Sister's Keeper helped the villages of Panliet and Akon acquire grinding mills to help establish some sense of economic viability. Learn more...

Supporting the Prevention of HIV / AIDSToday, as peace opens up routes of travel for the first time in decades, it brings with it an opportunity for the spread of HIV. In 2002, My Sister's Keeper brought Sudanese medical doctor Luka Deng to the United States for in-depth training at Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center in Boston, MA on the prevention of HIV/AIDS in rural Africa. We are working to contain this epidemic and prevent future diagnoses. Learn more...